Yearbook 1995

Volume 60

Enrollment 1,684

Hello, and welcome to Fairfax's favorite T.V. show, "It's Fare Facts". In this edition we are celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of our beloved school. We will be quizzing our various students in the categories of Student Life, Academics, Sports, Organizations, Performing Arts, and the Community past and present.

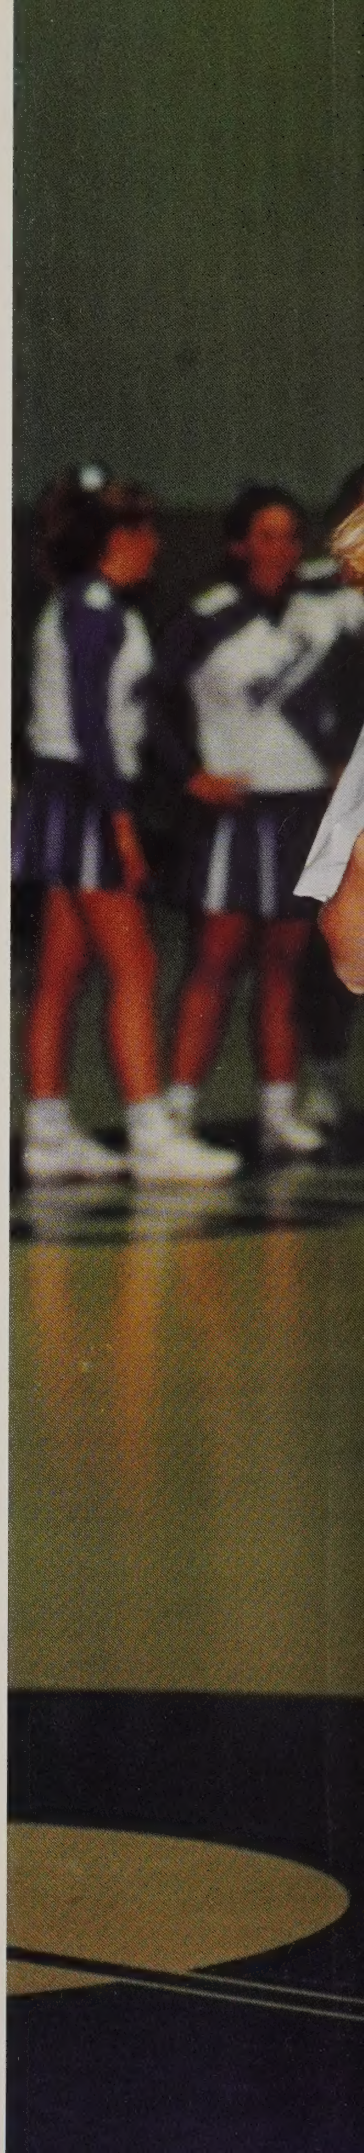

Many things have changed since the school opened in 1935. This show will allow our audience to see the differences and similarities between yesterday and today.

Senior Chrissy Castleman said, "It's amazing to look back and explore the history of our school and how so many things have changed."

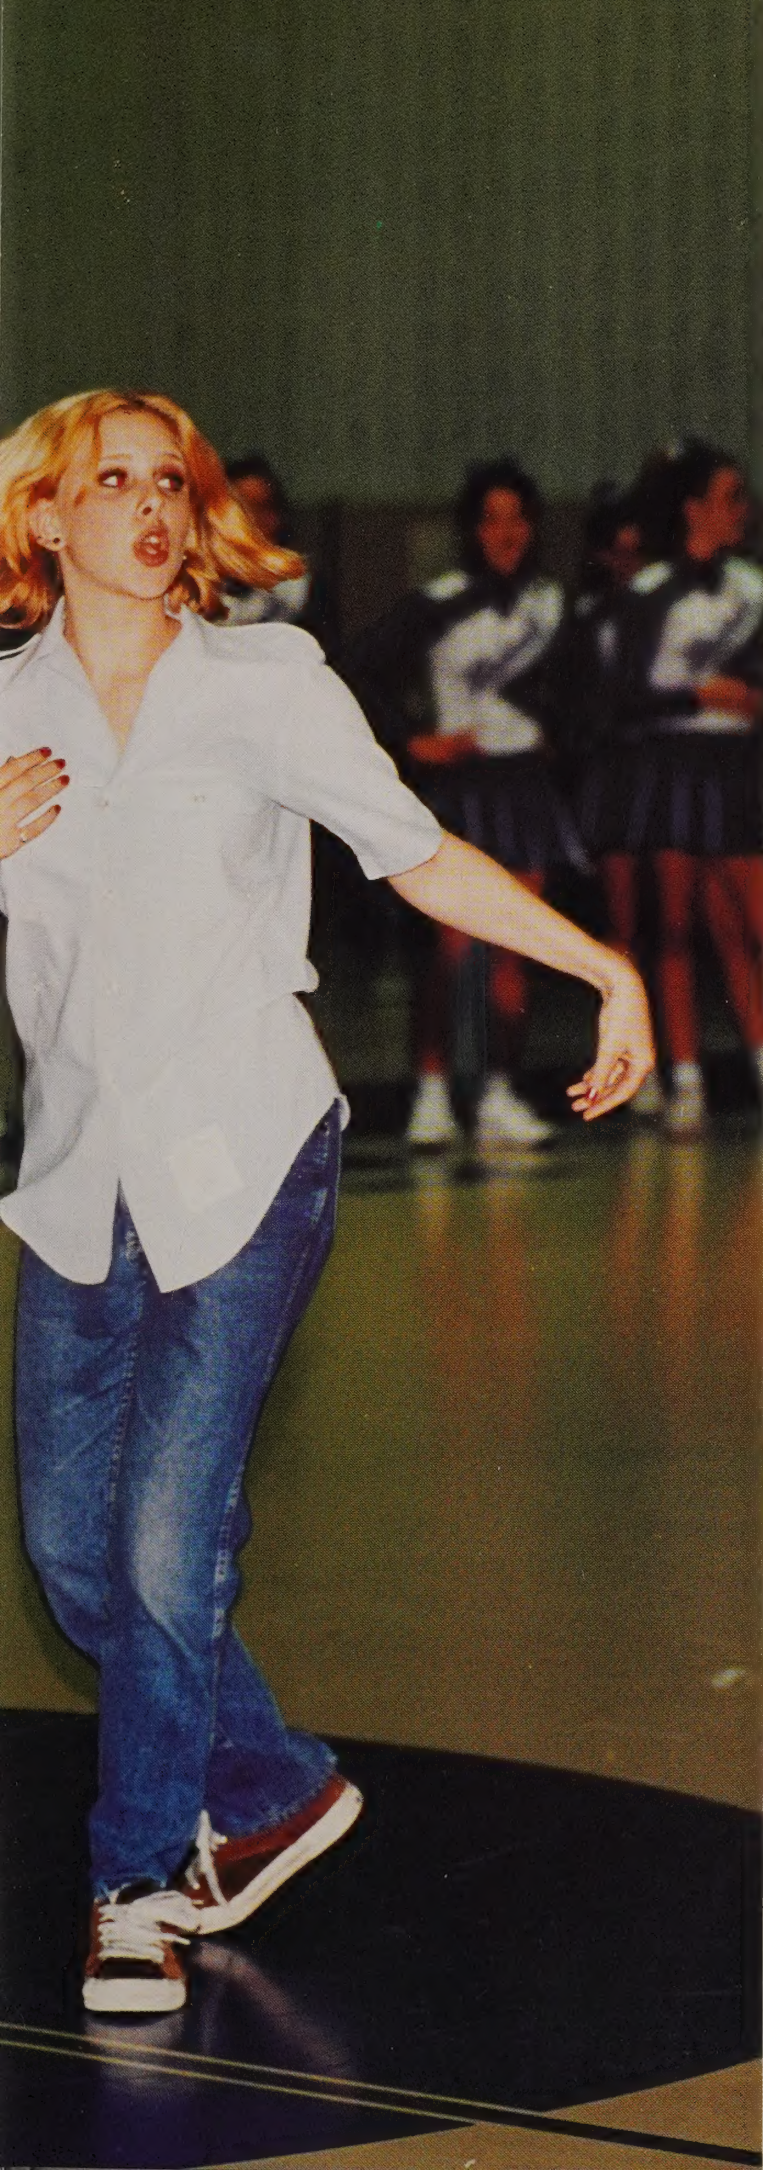

As the school year opened, student's anticipated the upcoming year and all that it had to offer.

"I was really excited about coming to Fairfax and meeting new people." said Freshmen Maurice Galindo.

speaks to those who listen...."

(1967 Sampler, p.2)

Our first category that we will explore is Student Life. The time is 1991. George Bush was president, communism was disintegrating, the Berlin Wall came down, and the world watched intently while the Gulf War raged on. In the 1991 yearbook, Jo-Anne Gedse described Student Life as, "different for everyone, but whatever is done, it's done for fun."

Not much has changed since then. Students, no matter how busy they are, will stop and have fun. Often, students will substitute a fun afternoon to make up for their challenging day at school.

Senior Caitlin Stephens said, "Being in a lot of extracurricular activities, plus all my academic classes can be very hectic and stressful. Going out and having fun is the only thing that makes school bearable."

T RADITIONS

Everything around us is constantly changing. Clothing, mannerism, social problems, and even society. But does time really change all things?

Sixty years ago, Fairfax High School first opened it's doors. It has seen things change day by day and also those that have stayed the same. The events that we still carry on has made up our traditions.

"Annadale and Fairfax being rivals has always been a tradition. Even though Annadale has changed districts this year, it was still one of the biggest and toughest games that we have played," said Mike Abate.

Senior Patrick Varney said, "flunking Mrs. Bicknell's class was a tradition in itself." Heidi Davis, a junior, said, "Every year, Sut picks one person from each period to go out and get water for his tea. And he says the same thing everytime, 'Make sure you get the water out of the sink and not the toilet!'"

One custom that was the most apparent to others was the Homecoming activities and the voting of the Homecoming queen, formerly called the Snow Ball Queen.

"I think the reason that Homecoming has been a tradition for so long is that it is a way for seniors to show their school spirit," said Heather Eastman.

Things change from year to year. However, there are a few things that remain constant, these are our traditions, and they are what makes us rebels.

▲ The Homecoming Parade has taken place for many years along Old Lee High Way. Principal, Dr. Weinheimer is being driven around by Mrs. Theisen.

◀ In the auditorium, the nominees for Homecoming queen and their escorts are lined up on stage so that the student body may vote for their choice.

◀ Escorts John Moore, junior, and Todd Davis, senior, wait to accompany their Homecoming Queen nominees during the annual Homecoming Assembly.

◀ Before every school year begins, the seniors make it a tradition to participate in bleacher painting. It's a way to show school spirit during the summer.

▲ Seniors take their privilege to sit in the "Senior Chairs". No one is quite sure how this tradition has come about, but it is one that is enjoyed by many.

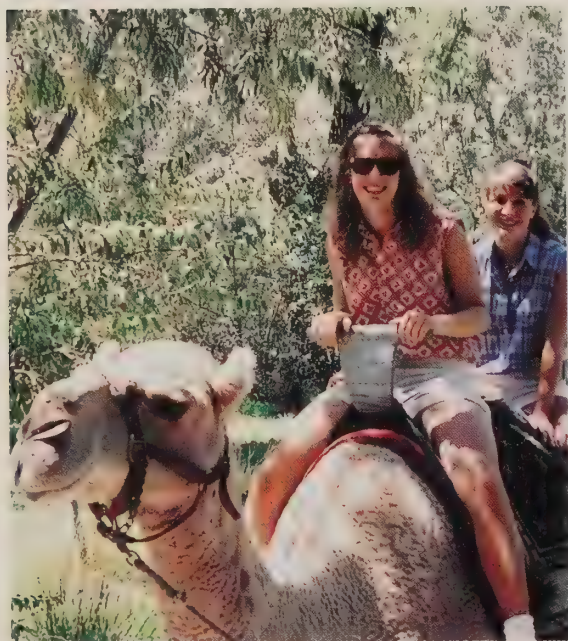

▲ Since the beginning of time, we have been rivals with Annandale. At a home game, Shane Mills tackles an Atom. It was a tough game and unfortunately, we lost. Times Photo by Andre Teague.

Regardless of the cloudy weather, Lisa Dunleavy, Laurie Rowan, Amy Hohenleitner, Maren Legon and Tara Hille had a BLAST during beach week in Ocean City, Maryland.

Enjoying their Princeton Exchange Program, Vincent Vo, Katie McAuliffe, Laurie Wright, Linda Hirw, Ashley Beard and Valerie Woodford learn more about the Japanese culture.

In Albuquerque, New Mexico, sisters Heather and Leslie Huellick ride a camel at the National Zoo on their family vacation. Doing new activities on vacation are popular for many students.

On a family vacation cruise Jennifer, Stephanie and Jessica Schneider ran into the famous Gregory Hines. After posing for a picture they got to talk with the tap dancer/actor.

Getting to know her new friends at the High School Diplomats Program in Princeton, New Jersey, Katie McAuliffe learns about the Japanese culture and language.

SUMMERTIME

As the two months of summer flew by quickly many students tried to fill every day with exciting places and events. Some of these were going to concerts, taking trips to far off places, participating in sports, learning new things, and tackling a summer job.

"I had a fun summer, although I had to go to summer school. But I also got to visit my family in California," explains junior Bethy Muleta.

Some students also made the summer an exciting one by doing things on their own and traveling by themselves.

"I was very proud of myself when I got my driver's licence and I also had a great time when I participated in an ice skating competition in Baltimore after practicing 3-4 times a week!" said junior Hilary Owsley.

This summer seemed to be a blast from the past as Woodstock 2 stopped the busy lives of many teenagers while they either attended the wet, muddy event or stayed glued to the television for live coverage.

"I taped every minute of it because, even if I wasn't there I'll always remember how much I wished I was," said Senior Amy Harr.

When September rolled around the students prepared for the beginning of school and more of the exciting events it would bring. Another summer sadly came to an end but there is always one right around the corner to create even more good times to remember.

Wishing she was in the action in the game, senior, Lisa Overby's injury caused her to sit it out and watch from the bench. Although the game was sometimes rough and messy the girls toughed it out.

Even though 'cheerleaders' were not permitted at the game these two 'gals', Steve Wallace and Cory Ekstein showed their spirit, with pompons in hand, for the game as "part of the crowd".

For their next play, Havalynn Riddle, Elissa Whitestone, Valerie Woodford, and Julie Church get instructions from the senior team's coach Mauricio Castro. Photo by

"We're number ONE!" the seniors shout. Spirit and pride among the team was immeasurable even after they lost to the juniors. The Powder Puff game was one memory out of many in their senior year that will never be forgotten.

POWDER PUFF

Yet another tradition was changed this year at the annual Powder Puff football game. The season began with late night practices for both the senior and junior girls teams. Getting ready for the big game, practices were tough, gruesome, and sometimes 'messy'. The seniors showed their spirit and liveliness by arriving at the junior practices with water balloons and shaving cream. This was all part of the fun, games, and intimidation that defined the rivalry between the senior and junior teams.

At the beginning of the game the conditions seemed normal, yet a drastic turn of events happened and by the second quarter the juniors were leading. Although touchdowns were made by the senior team, they were called invalid.

"Most of the calls that the referees made were questionable," said senior coach Ryan Donoghue.

"The seniors still had the victory even though they lost," said Alicia Bridges.

When the final score was determined the seniors were in shock as the juniors defeated them 16 to 0.

Will Castro, the junior coach, said "We worked hard, and all the time that we took going over different plays paid off."

Although the score surprised both players and spectators everyone believes that the game was fun and was yet another addition to the memorable yearly chronicles.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week is a special time to motivate students and get them spirited for Homecoming.

Some students have a favorite day out of the week. Tara Hille and Havalyn Riddle both agreed that Dress Up Day was their favorite, but for different reasons.

Tara said, "It was neat to see the student body show respect for the girls on the Homecoming Court."

Havalyn said, "The majority of the school looked half way descent for once."

Although many students participated in Spirit Week, some thought it would be neat to change a day to something else.

Amy Hohenleitner said, "I would change Hat

Day to Pajama Day."

Julie Church replied, "I would change Dress Up Day to Crazy Hair Day. That would be cool!"

Students had their own opinions, but most agreed on one class.

Steve Wallace said, "The SENIOR class was the best, because they showed the most spirit and participated in all the activities."

Some students believed that separte people were the most spirited as opposed to the classes.

Jen Slater commented, "Laurie Rowan, Courtney Huggard, and Laurie Wright motivated the Senior class, especially at the Pep Rally."

All in all, Spirit Week was a success and has now brought the classes closer.

HOMECOMING GAME

"I feel like if our team plays together that we will never be beaten." responded varsity player Chuck Freeman.

As the pressure built up during Homecoming week, many football players felt the excitement as well as added pressure to win the game. Of course, confidence is also a good quality to have with all the pressure of the game.

"We had to stay focused and confident through it all." said senior Jason Maggard.

In order to get prepared for the game against Lee, football players had to take control and put their minds into the game. The team as a whole had a lot of spirit.

As Jaron Urich replied, "We had to win the game for our school as well as for the district title."

At the end of the homecoming game, overall, most of the Rebel football team was happy with the outcome of the game.

"We were very pleased with the team, we had learned how to step up and play big games." said senior Ryan Thompson.

The team really pulled together and came through with winning success of a winning Rebel victory.

As junior Jay Planakis responded, "Everything happened right, we played with all the hearts and pride we had to offer."

THE BIG NIGHT

Imagine walking in to a big room alive with living color, and vibrating music you can dance the night away to. Add to this image a variety of flowing dresses and spit-and-polish suits, plus tons of smiles and lots of laughs and you have the Homecoming Dance.

Speaking of the suits, junior Chris Myers reflected, "Homecoming night is the only time I get to dress up like John Gotti."

This night was a time for forgetting your worries and getting in to the spirit of things.

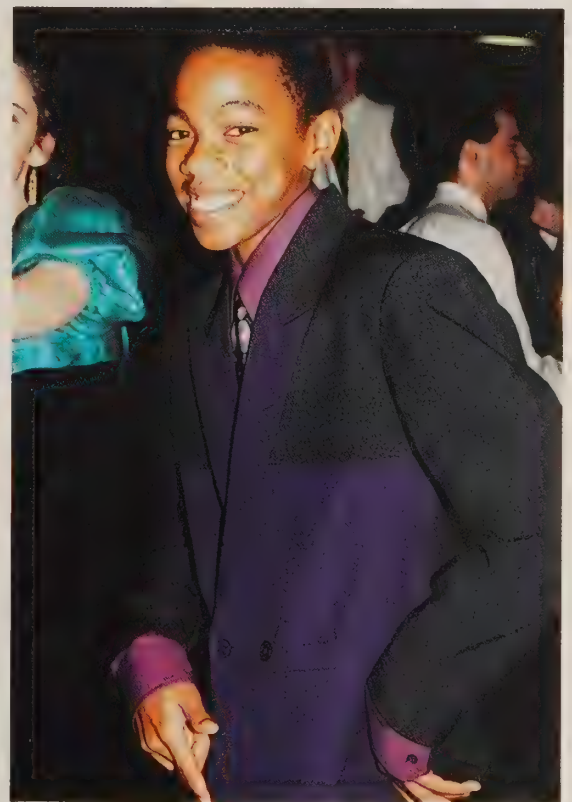

Junior Brina Bittle agreed on the purpose of Homecoming, "Everyone dropped their differences for a night and had fun together!"

Many activities occurred both before the dance, including dinner, and after the dance, including parties and other fun events. Despite the various people, dresses, suits, and dances, the common ground for the night was FUN!

"I really thought the D.J. should've played more of a variety of music, but other than that everyone seemed to enjoy themselves," commented sophomore Chris Marinoff.

Even though times have changed over the years, Homecoming has remained a big event full of fun for everyone. Each person attended for the main purpose of having fun and enjoying themselves which is one tradition that has always been and always will be.

SENIORS

▲ After a long and tiring week at school, Lisa Dunleavy, Dana Dillon, Gina Colaianni, Colleen O'Neill, and Kristen Olsick pose for a picture while spending the evening together at a friend's house.

▶ During lunch, Damon Powell, Jen Brode and Gen Pritcher thumb through the new student directory together. Finding other seniors to hang out with was not usually a problem.

◀ Hoping and expecting to receive the spirit stick, the seniors scream their loudest while chanting '95 and 'SENIORS!'. The lively group almost blew the walls off of the GYM with their spirited uproars.

▶ In the "only" senior lunchroom Loree Bradee, Amy Hohenleitner, and Heather Eastman can be found enjoying their senior privilege along with many other of their classmates and friends.

◀ Many of the seniors wore the senior crown for class spirit. Richard Jones is one of the many who participated in this tradition. Becoming "Kings" is what the class had looked forward to for four years.

▶ Guess who's tied up in their hooded shirt? It's Carrie Kappler, clowning around at lunch in the senior chairs. Humorous people are one of the characteristics that make the senior class one to remember.

Spelling out S-E-N-I-O-R-S at the pep rally displays the class' spirit.

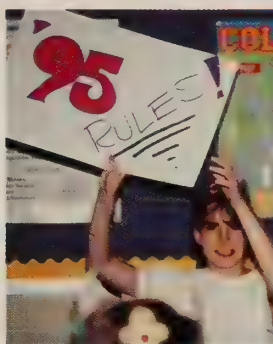

Spirited seniors, Vincent Vo and Kevin Cooke join their cheering class at the pep rally wearing senior crowns.

Displaying his enthusiasm of spirit week, Matt McConnell supports the senior class on Hat Day.

All decked out on Decade Day, Tara Glaze encourages the senior class to victory during the dance contest.

▲ A bond between twins, David and Carrie Kappler is one that will never be understood as they greet each other in the hall.

▶ Acting like a goofball Kevin Custis makes it difficult for Sara Duffett to concentrate on her book.

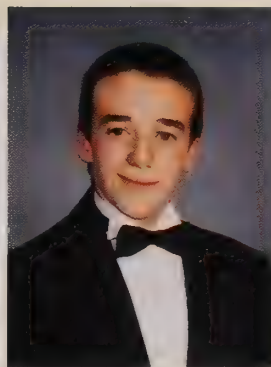

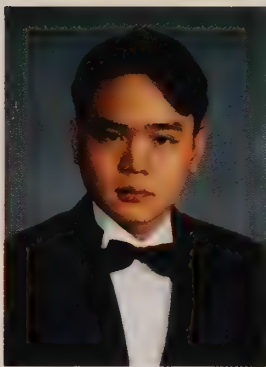

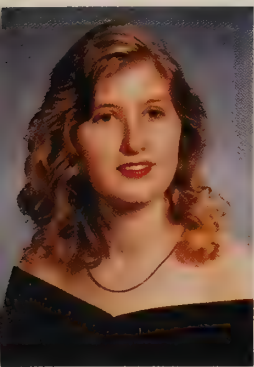

▲ Lounging among friends, Stephaine Simpson, Scott Perryman, and Tara Matthews are taken by surprise when Taka Dickens dives into the picture.

▶ Going crazy with the food drive collection, Mike Henry, Kim Yeager, and Louise DaCosta demonstrate maturity of the senior class.

... Memories

Going to her locker before class, Ashley Beard feels lucky to have her locker in the Senior Zone.

Performing with the Drill Team for a dance, the senior football players gather on the sidelines waiting for their cue.

The trademark crowns worn by the Seniors on homecoming show seniors' spirit in Mr. Runzo's Physics class before the pep rally.

With their '95 sign for the Pep Rally, Nadia Hegazy and Mark Ramos are ready to cheer on the seniors to win the spirit stick.

---Move Over Seniors!--

Finally, the time we've all been waiting for. In a few months we will gain the title of rulers of the school. We've suffered through three long, tedious years being underclassmen and soon it will be our chance to have the privileges and respect of being a Senior.

"It's about time," says Junior Scott Dicke, "It seems like we've been here forever, and now the greatest year of high school is almost ours!"

No more crowded Locker Bay and small Junior hallway, no more parking way out in B.F.E., and say good-bye to getting out of class before lunch at the regular time and fighting the enormous lines at the snack bar. Junior Terri Smith remarks on entering our final year of high school, "We've all made a lot of great friendships here, and next year is going to be the most fun!"

 Anticipating what next year will be like, Juniors Adam Mastone, Todd Warden, and Deirdre Baldino discuss the advantages of being a Senior.

-----Dream Dates-----

"My dream date is a guy who I can go out with and have a lot of fun. I'm picky so he would have to be all that, but the single life's all good!" B.J. Kyle

"My idea of a dream date is a dinner at McDonald's and then going to a tattoo parlor and getting matching tattoos." Chris Myers

"My perfect date would be a nice dinner, maybe a movie and then a long walk along the beach." Scott Dicke

"My dream date would be getting really dressed up and going into a big city to have dinner in a nice restaurant and then doing something really crazy like going swimming in the Reflection Pool in D.C. or driving to Ocean City and hanging out on the beach all night." Kristi Pienkos

No matter what your idea of the perfect date is, everyone is always on the lookout for that special someone. The term "dream date" means something different to each individual person, whether you're partial to a big night on the town with your date and a group of friends, or a quiet evening alone, the night always means fun.

◀ As an expert in dating, Bob Gindlesperger, believes that humor plays an important role on a first date.

Looking Into the Future

Imagine yourself 25 years from now, about your parents age. You find yourself listening to the "Oldies" stations and hearing songs such as "Far Behind" by Candlebox, or "When I come around" by Green Day, your kids think these songs are stupid. They make fun of your pictures in the 1994-1995 yearbook and are in amazement at your oh-so-cool hairstyle and clothes. Are things really going to be that different when you're old and gray? Are you going to suddenly transform into your worst nightmare, your PARENTS?!? Say your prayers now, you may think you're cool but your kids are going to think very differently. YOU ARE ONE BIG NERD!!!!!!!

What will the future hold in store for us? Some believe that they will fall into the typical family lifestyle, others vow never to get married and spend their life partying. Whatever your plans for the future may involve, it all starts now.

Hanging Out

When Friday comes, it's time for relieving all of the stresses of the past school week. As Cori Johns puts it, "Our brains need rest!"

People spend their time doing various things but everyone is definitely sure to have fun. Amy Moustakis says, "It doesn't matter where I go as long as there are no stresses, no books, and all of my friends!"

Many people like to spend time at a school sporting event, which majority of the time is on a Friday night. Scott Dicke loves showing school spirit, "I have a great time watching my peers play and I always like to see Fairfax win.

"I like watching plus the games give us all something to do, we keep out of trouble." Ronnie Jaques agrees.

Of course we all stay out of trouble, but B.J. Kyle thinks, "You can never party too much. When school starts it's time to settle down and earn your right to party on the weekend!"

The Juniors certainly do have fun but they also know when it's time to hit the books.

▲ "Try this!" Juniors Josh Pickeral and Tara Hille hang out at a local fast food restaurant after school.

SOPHOMORES

▲ The first place winners of the Homecoming float competition, the SOPHOMORES, are both surprised and exuberant over their victory. Their float consisted of a platform shoe which 'put the PEACE in the end-zone'.

 Hanging out with classmates is something most of the students look forward to during the day. Here Beth Burling, Micheal Perkins, and Alison Scovers, are able to socialize during lunch.

 Branding their class year on their faces seemed to be a popular fashion for the sophomores during the Homecoming pep rally. Spray confetti decorated the field house as the student body cheered and shouted.

10 Years From Now

We spend our high school years supposedly preparing for the future, but how many of us actually give thought to where we will be ten years from now?

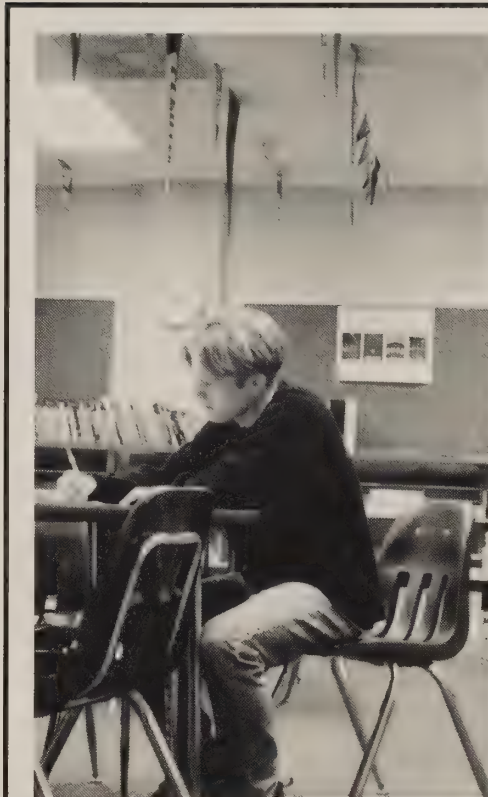

"In a kitchen, barefoot and pregnant, with babies hanging on my ankle. But I'll be happy and in love." said Amanda Mandigo about where she sees herself 10 years from now.

"In 10 years, I see myself following the lead and having very little money because I don't feel like being tied down to a job where I'm always in some stuffy office, having some old geezer telling me what to do." said Miki Kapoulas about her future.

"Six feet under." That's how Steve Long sees himself ten years from now.

"In 10 years, I will be a successful lawyer and married with 2 kids, driving a nice BMW and living in a mansion!" exclaimed Mariam Lazary about her successful future.

Time will go by fast and 2005 will be here sooner than you think. Then we'll see how many of these predictions will come true.

In the career center, Matt Hilton thinks about his future. "In ten years, I'd like to be on the West Coast in Carlsbad, CA, teaching history and surfing after school."

Weekends

People do lots of different things over the weekend. "I hang out and go to the movies." said Kristen Day. "I chill with my peeps." said Paul Ransom.

But other than doing normal things there are some people who choose to be different like Lindsay Bruce, "I spend my weekend daydreaming." Some people do real exciting things like Eric Buchanan, "I stair-dive."

Although some students like to stick with academics such as Charlie Mankin, "I hang out at home and do academically challenging things like studying." or Danielle Robinson, "I engage in highly intellectual activities."

Students also like doing exciting, fun stuff like Matt Hilton, "I go mud boggin'." Debbie Greene and Katie Johnson explain, "We get a whole bunch of people, stop at Shell and then go out driving."

Most people just like hanging out with their good friends. Liz Seguin said, "I hang out with my best friend Lindsay 24/7." Steve Long said "I hang out with Nicole on the weekend." But what most people like to do is, "PARTY!" explains Amanda Kawalski.

Bumming Rides

When students hear the most dreaded two words a person can hear, 'school bus,' they cringe with horror. Having to wake up according to the bus schedule can be a hassle. Some Freshmen are able to get rides from friends, parents, brothers, and sisters. Every single day I bum a ride from my sister." Christy Taylor replied.

"I get rides from my friends whenever I can," said Jenni Cross.

"I can usually get a ride once or twice a week." Bree Blinn and Kathleen Mallott answered.

Some Freshman have to do certain things to get a ride. "I have to pay my brother to get rides to and from school." said Justine Festina.

Paying money isn't unusual. Some have to pay for gas. "All I have to do is pay a little gas money." said Tanya Buxton. When the freshman were asked what kind of car they'll drive next year they answered, "Yea, I'm gonna get a hardly used, used car." remarked Travis Tate.

"I have no idea what kind of car I'll drive. My parents are penny pinchers!" said Eric Miller. So who will they bum off of next?

First Impressions

First impressions of Fairfax varied many ways throughout the freshmen class. To some people like Vanessa Clemens, "it was very large". Many freshmen looked forward to starting high school.

Freshman Christian Mirasol enjoys Fairfax, "because there are a lot of things to do here", but others like Mike Mallon disliked Fairfax because, "it was too hard". Freshmen Alisa Scibilia and George Freeman are looking forward to graduating while Jennifer Dalton is, "looking forward to advancing in school and gaining more respect as an upperclassman."

Many students in the freshmen class are looking forward to not being a freshman, as others are looking forward to extra-curricular activities. Andrew Palmer is looking forward to, "taking Veterinarian classes as a sophomore, junior, and senior". Lisa Dowell is looking forward to, "the soccer season, and is hoping to play for all four years.", and Daniel Santo is, "looking forward to playing four years of football, because we have a great program."

There are many different first impressions created by Freshmen in their first year at Fairfax, but Jennifer Dalton summed up the opinion shared by many freshmen by saying that Fairfax, "All in all is pretty cool."

The first day of school brought many new faces, as well as new opinions of the school by the freshmen class. Students such as, Vanessa Tilson and Rebecca Shields, began their expectations for their future at the school.

Adjusting to High School

Fairfax may seem big at first, and it takes some getting used to.

"At first the school seemed really huge, but after a week or so it was easy to get around," said Brittany Coronado.

Finding different classes could also pose a problem to new freshman.

When Beth Long was asked if she knew where everything was she replied "Yeah, I have a sixth sense."

Some students thought Fairfax was different than they thought it would be, "Strange things happen here," said Paul Pasten.

"People don't pick on Freshman as much as I thought they would," said Cheryl Cheng.

When Darcy Uricoli was asked how high school was she said, "It's pretty much what I expected."

"There's a lot more homework. That's really killing me," stated Lauren Oates.

More freedom at Fairfax was another difference from Lanier "You don't have as many rules as I thought you would."

"I'm treated with more respect than I thought I would, ya know being a Freshman and all," said Kelly Fitzgerald.

Having a good time in their first year, freshmen Justinn Arced, Ashley Tistadt and Erica Elvey participate in Dress-up Day.

OH, WHAT A MESS!

TEACHERS STRESS ORGANIZATION, BUT A FEW NEED A LECTURE THEMSELVES

Although teachers are role models to many students, their neatness is not always a factor. Their desks are proof that not everyone is perfect.

Mrs. Johnson was nominated Teacher of the Year, but even her desk was not the neatest. But everything on her desk is somehow important to her daily teachings.

Students opinion about teacher's desks ranges from those who are scared to say a word for fear of getting in trouble to those who have no problem with sharing their opinion.

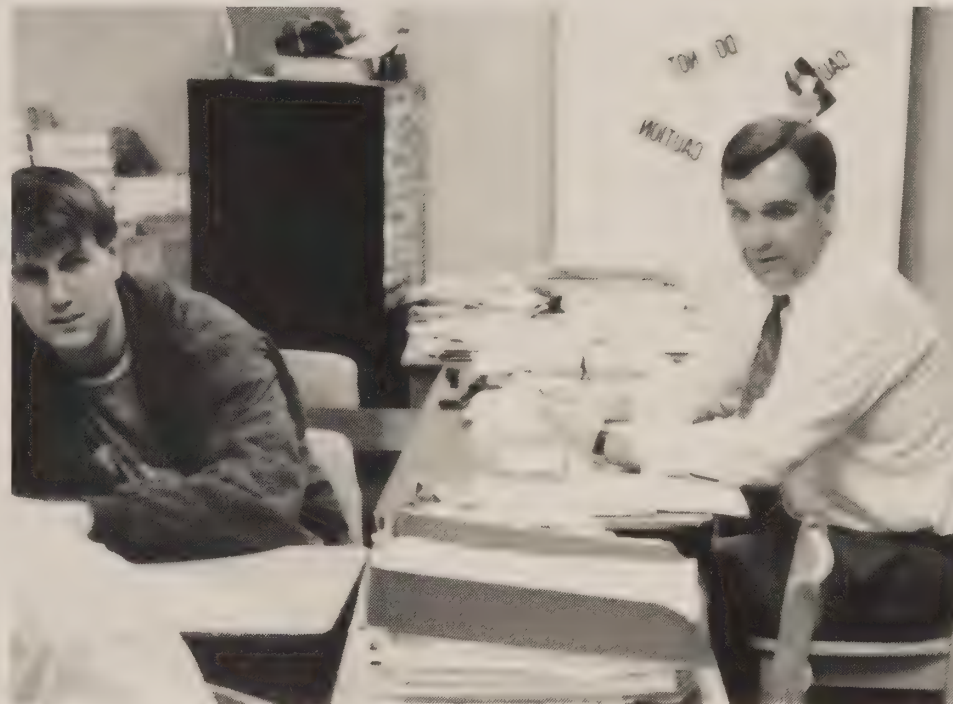

Mr. Sutterfield is not only a great teacher, but also a great coach. He does however know that he is sometimes sloppy at his desk.

Maurice Castro commented, "I've been attending this school for four years now and know the teachers pretty well. I would have to say that Sutt is the sloppiest fool I know!"

Senior, Kevin Custis replied, "Mr. Stover is so messy that he loses his own students!"

Ryan Donoghue said, "Mr. Ott is the coolest teacher but he is not always neat."

Although these teachers are not always neat and tidy, they are great people. We as students count on our teachers for help and not always neatness.

Mr. Sutterfield sits happily at his desk as he admires his messy piece of artwork.

Proud To Be a... Teacher!

Unbeknownst to many of the students at Fairfax, the teachers at this school are very proud for many of the things they've accomplished.

When asked about his brag, Dr. Mitch Sutterfield said, "Nemo me impune lacessit!" ("Don't mess with me!" in Latin). I was not sure if he was refusing to give us an answer or displaying his scholarly knowledge.

Many teachers are proud of who they work with more than the things they've done. Journalism teacher Margo Tyree said, "My classes are so good this year. I feel like I've died and gone to heaven." While many of the teachers are proud of their classes, many teachers are proud of the other faculty they work with. Mr. Tabish, who holds the Dept. Chair for the Special Ed. dept., showers praise on those with whom he works when he said, "After teaching for over 20 years at FHS, I still look forward to coming to work each day."

Many teachers and administrators responded humbly when asked to brag about themselves. Luckily, though, we found one person who was proud of herself: Kelley Moore, our receptionist, said, "I can do anything! ...office related that is."

Rarely are teachers given a tangible reward for their efforts (other than a meager paycheck). Occasionally, however, awards are given to teachers who either have had a profound influence on their students or who have demonstrated a thorough understanding of their subject. This year's recipient of the "Teacher of the Year" award, Mrs. Joann Johnson, happens to possess and utilize both of these qualities.

"Winning the 'Teacher of the Year' award was very exciting to me," said Mrs. Johnson. Not only was this award pleasing to her, but her past students were happy when she received it. According to senior Cory Eckstein, "she deserved it for being so rad!" Sophomore Teresa Galdanez added, "Mrs. Johnson was the best teacher I've ever had. She would make the class fun when she sang."

So, to Mrs. Johnson, and to her many years teaching here at Fairfax (and at other schools), the staff and students at Fairfax would like to say, "Thank you."

Break from the Usual

Teachers Hang Out, Goof Off, and Relax

▲ Mr. Spirit himself, Mel Runzo, enjoys dressing up for sports day in his favorite wrestling uniform to enliven his Physics classes as well as Homecoming week.

◀ When the stress of teaching becomes too overwhelming, Lindsey Ott transforms from a highly professional individual into a crazed animal.

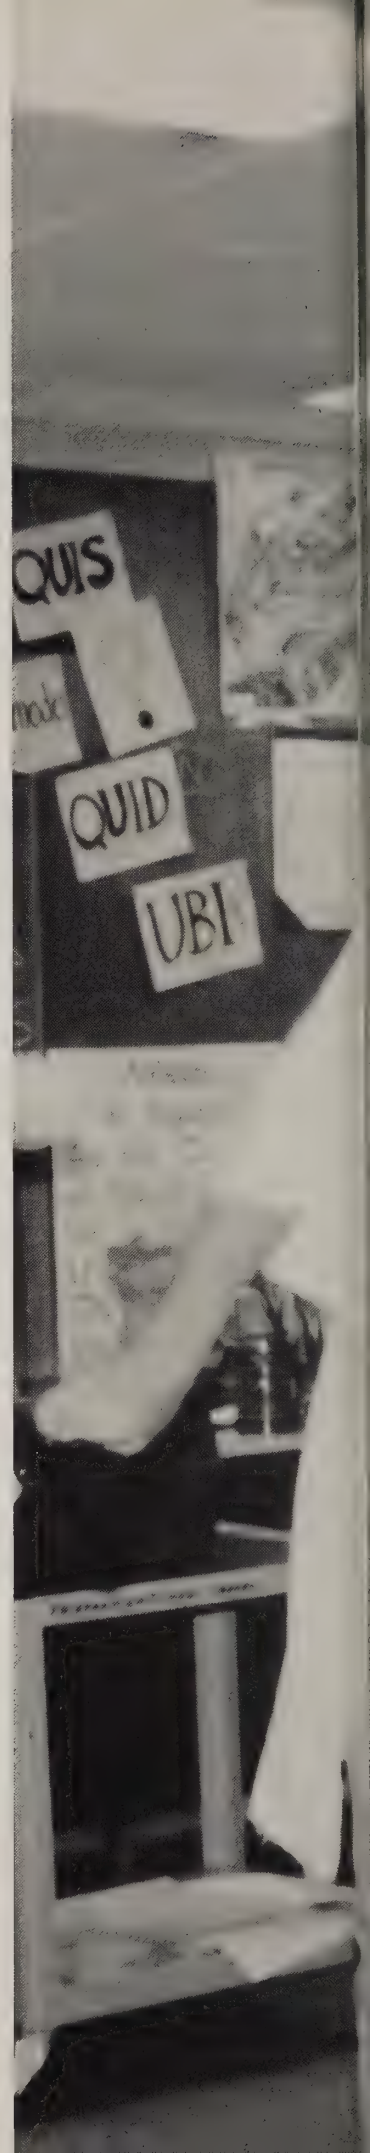

We will now flash back to 1976. The category: Academics. Carter was just elected president, the U.S was celebrating its Bicentennial, and the Bee Gee's had the new "groovin" sound. American Studies, Library Science, Debate, Film Study and Survival Skills were all introduced as new academic courses for the students.

As Junior Katie McAuliffe looked at the 1976 course list, she said, "It doesn't seem that classes were as stressful or as demanding then as they are now."

Academic excellence is a vital part to student success in high school. Today, the classes students take and the grades they receive play a significant role in students' futures.

Junior Ronnie Jacques said, "Academics are very important to today's society because of the advancement in technology and work ethics."

After exceeding 5 absences, Todd Bunch was reminded by Ms. Fortson to fill out an appeal form to submit to his administrator.

When Angie Economou NEEDS TO GO TO THE BATHROOM there's no way she'll lose her pass, because Ms. Hawley's is quite noticeable.

When William McBurrough leaves class he always makes sure he has a hall pass to get by the teachers and the administrators without question.

OSIRIS

Everyone has their own opinion about the attendance policy. Some people like it and others hate it.

It's no surprise that administrators and teachers like it. "It's a positive step because attendance has gone up. The administrators can only do so much, so the attendance policy helps," said Mr. Meloy. "I love it because it forces students who normally skip to be in class," said Mr. Steckman. "It's a lot of work for teachers and students. It must be worth it because 95% of reported students are here on a regular basis," said Mr. McCausland.

It's also not surprising that most of the students are against the attendance policy. Christy Taylor said, "If you miss school, why should they care?" Sarah Christenson said, "I think it's unfair. What if you're sick?" Barbara Isanski said, "It should be changed because not everyone wants to go through the appeal process; so they all come to school when they're sick and do bad in school."

Even though our attendance policy is just a pilot program in the county, it probably won't be changed anytime soon. Maybe students, teachers, and administrators can work closer together to develop a policy that will ensure high attendance but also an understanding that sickness and other unforeseen events do occur. In short, we need a policy that will make everyone happy.

FROLICKING IN PHILADELPHIA

As the Greyhound bus pulled out of the school parking lot at 6:45 A.M., the tired AP Government students prepared themselves for the long drive to Philadelphia. Students passed the time studying, sleeping or watching "Beauty and the Beast". The closer the bus got to Philadelphia, the students became more excited and planned out their day.

"I was so tired in the morning but with Laurie, Colleen, Brian, Alicia, and Nate singing "Tainted Love", I found it very hard to sleep," said Kevin Cooke.

The students spent their day touring the historical sites, such as Ben Franklin's home and the Liberty Bell. In their free time, the students had the opportunity to go on carriage rides and appear on T.V.

"We'll never forget running through Independence Hall, and racing to all the other sites just to make sure we got to go on a carriage ride. The best parts of the trip was not only spending time with our friends, but also the rides there and back," Laurie Rowan and Colleen O'Neill said.

On their tour of Philadelphia, the government students were shown all the sites and more. On a carriage ride through the city, the driver pointed out all the important places, including the building where "Ghostbusters" was filmed.

On their carriage ride, Jen Slater, Marie Reyes, Jihan Eligibali, Julie Telotte and Nicole Meise enjoy the scenery of the city. Marie said, "I think the carriage ride was the best part of the trip."

◀ Relaxing on the bus ride up, Valerie Woodford and Julie Church talk about their plans for the upcoming day. "I was really excited to go to Philadelphia; I had a lot of fun," said Valerie.

JUST CHECK IT OUT!

Dusty books on the shelves, left unopened. Cranky old librarians that are always telling you to hush by placing a wrinkled, gnarled finger to their lips. The nauseous smell of mildew penetrates through the air. Cobwebs hang in the corners that creates lacy vails. Does this sound like the typical school library? Not quite.

"I enjoy the school library because the main librarian helps me with my reports and on the computers," said Senior Steve Wallace. Vibrant and filled with videos, computers, CD-ROMs, and, of course, books, our school library provides a valuable service to the academic community.

While most students use the library for research, and often only when brought there by a teacher, some students enjoy the calm break that the library provides. Junior Erin Miner said, "I like the fact that the librarians will leave you alone and let you read." Freshmen Travis Tate finds that "before practice, I spend time in the library just looking at books."

Heidi Davis summed up the importance, convenience, and relevance of the library as a resource: "In between classes you can get in and out in thirty seconds or less to get a book for reading day."

Taking advantage of the library's technology, Leslie Hulick works on a project about Indonesia with help from her classmate Min Jang.

55% use a computerized grade book.

53% create computer-generated assignment calendars.

47% use laser disc technology.

35% produce computer-generated overhead transparencies.

24% take students to the computer lab at least once per semester

16% send individual students to the computer lab

13% rarely, if ever, use computers or other technology.

PLUG IN!

Schools across the country are attempting to venture beyond the world of books and into the technology of the future. The biggest concern about this process though centers on cost which can limit the amount of equipment. Secondly, principals and teachers must face the need for training themselves in a field in which their students could sometimes teach them.

While most students dislike the Apple IIs in the computer lab and yearn for more advanced machines, the school is making some strides. The recently purchased Macintoshes in the student computer lab and a newly-formed teacher technology lab have helped our school move ahead. "Technology is pretty good here compared to some schools," believes Zakiya Thomas.

Future plans for technology include the purchase of more Macintoshes, the development of more advanced computer coursework in the Business Department, and the installation of a fiber optic system. Assistant Principal George Dirner feels that "we are hopefully bringing FHS into the information highway network."

FOCUS ON INDEPENDENCE

The Flex-Mod/SD Class and the Autistic Class are a part of our school in an attempt to provide students with an environment which allows them the maximum interaction with their teenage peers while still learning the skills necessary for future survival.

Ann Finan, teacher for the Autistic Class, says that in her class "we have a lot of fun." She and instructor Patti Byrne "teach the class to be as independent as possible." The class recycled paper throughout the school, took classes such as finance, and worked outside in the school in different areas of the community.

The Flex class is involved in the school through such programs as Spuds-to-Go, mailbox stuffing, cafeteria set-up, and holiday baskets. This class' goal, like the Autistic class, is to involve students in as many activities as possible and to promote skills which will lead to independent living.

FAIRFAXONIANS

Being a Fantastic Fairfaxonian means many things. It is an honor to the students who receive this award, while it is also an accomplishment that others should press for. Volunteers, dedicated to both their school and their community, are chosen for this award. Hard work is not what they are awarded for, but for the extra mile they chose to travel.

Sara Gothard, Lauren Cox, Amanda Sutherland, Lee Engle, Jason Maga, Inana Blankson, Ella Popelanskai, Katie Laing, Sarah Denhardt, Leigh Cullen, Tara Glaze and Ronnie Hawkins were the twelve lucky students selected for the prestigious award of Fantastic Fairfaxonian. Guidance Counselor Carolyn Marsh coordinates the nomination and recognition process for these special students.

Many of the Fairfaxonians play an active role within the school's music, theater, organizations and athletic departments. Other students are occupied in the community and work as volunteers for different organizations.

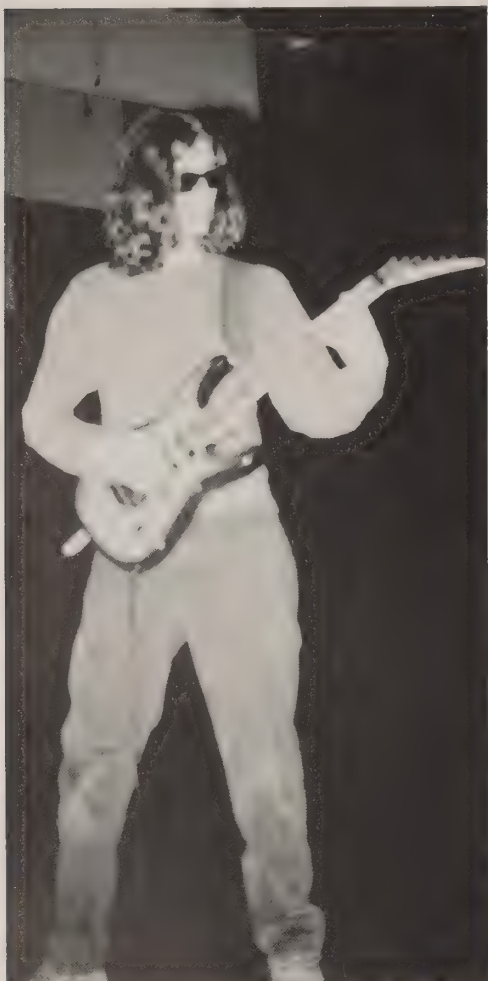

Even though every student can not be recognized these twelve nominees represent the entire student body.

CRAZY CLASSROOMS

"BE QUIET!" "PAY ATTENTION!"
"LEAVE!" "GET OUT!"

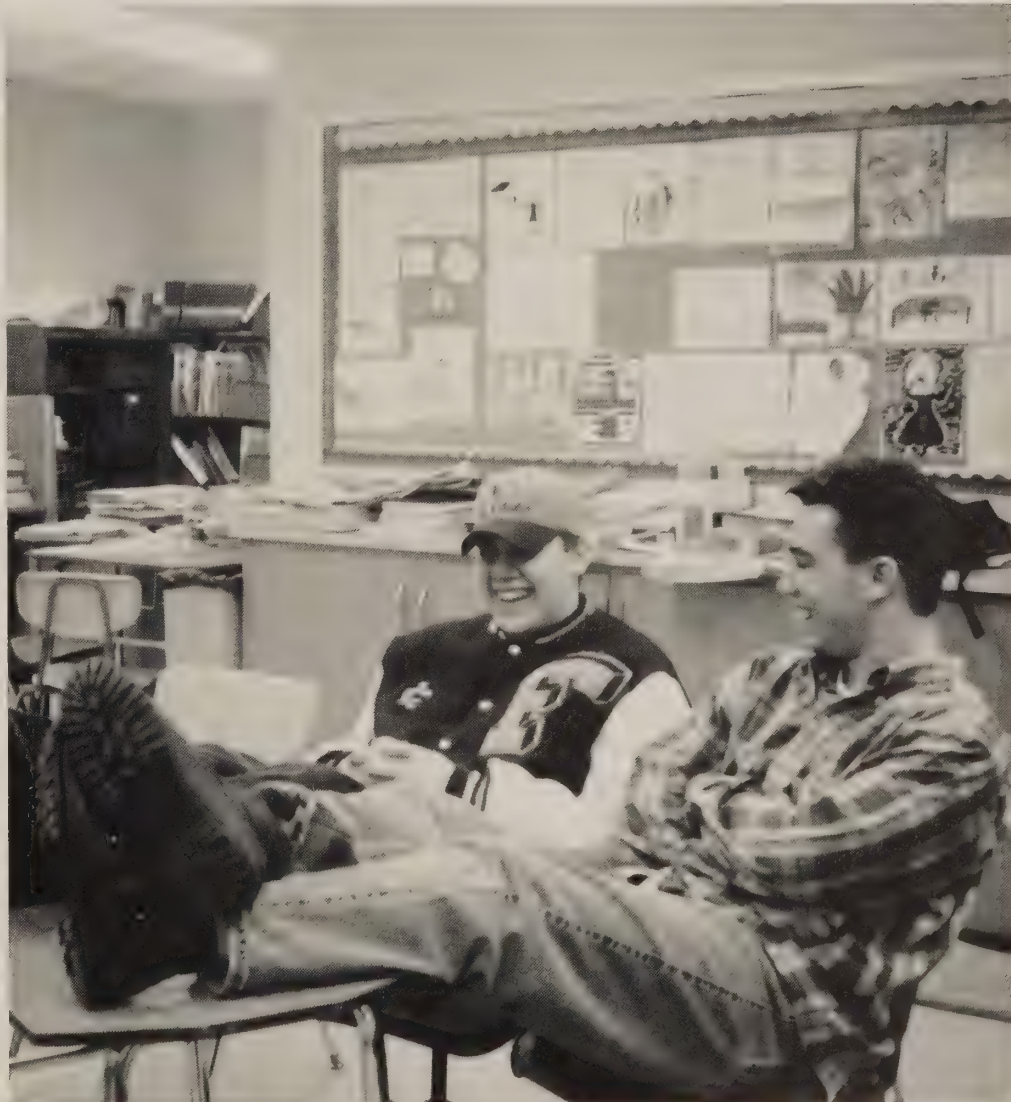

Many times these phrases are heard when students goof off in class. But what is it that causes students to goof off in class? Senior Richard Jones said, "I goof off when I need to relax." But other students like Kevin Custis said, "I goof off, because there's normally nothing better to do."

So what is there for the teacher to do when students goof off? Senior Cory Eckstein said, "I was kicked out of McAllister's class, unjustifiably, for a week for goofing off." These punishments were meant to curb behaviors, but have they done their job? "I goof off so I can be kicked out, so I don't have to do any work," said Senior Miguel Aniceto.

Not surprisingly you can grab a hall pass, walk down a hall, and say "Hi" to all the students enjoying class outside of the classroom.

No matter what is done in the method of punishments, according to sophomore Leslie Hulick, students will goof off because "it's fun!"

▲ Slacking off, Jon Coy and Ryan Thompson relax after helping out on putting the paper to bed.

LOOKING BEYOND TOMORROW

We all spend a lot of time thinking about the future. Everyone is confused about their future; we are all very uncertain. There are many things that can be done to get ready for what lies ahead in life.

The best way to prepare for the future is to be careful when you consider what courses you take in high school. "On the road to success, if you take the easy way, it usually leads to a dead end," says Mr. Bob Mason, who teaches the general maintenance and mechanics classes. Mr. Mason brings up a good point, because if you take a lot of easy classes, you will graduate, but you won't be very well prepared for the future.

Getting yourself ready for life after graduation doesn't stop at school. "Getting a job helped me prepare for the real world," said senior Mark Ramos. "To prepare for my future, I have volunteered at Fair Oaks Hospital to explore my many career options," said Nadia Hegazy.

Elissa Siegel noted, "Taking one day at a time, I'll cross those bridges when I get to them." Perhaps the best way to prepare for the future is to do what Julie Trencher does, which is "learn from past experiences, and use that knowledge for the future."

One way to prepare for the future is to get a part time job after school. Junior Karen Poole earns extra cash and learns responsibility while working at Baskin Robbins.

In getting ready to register for next year's classes, McInte Young and Abdullah Yussuf confer with Guidance Counselor Joan Hartman about the best courses to take.

Looking through college information packets, Renee Jenkins and friend try to decide what school is best for them.

In considering a career in child care, sophomore Tanja Woods visits the pumpkin patch on a field trip with the preschool program.

Going through the Career Center's plethora of files, senior Heather Hulick searches for information on her chosen school, Elon College.

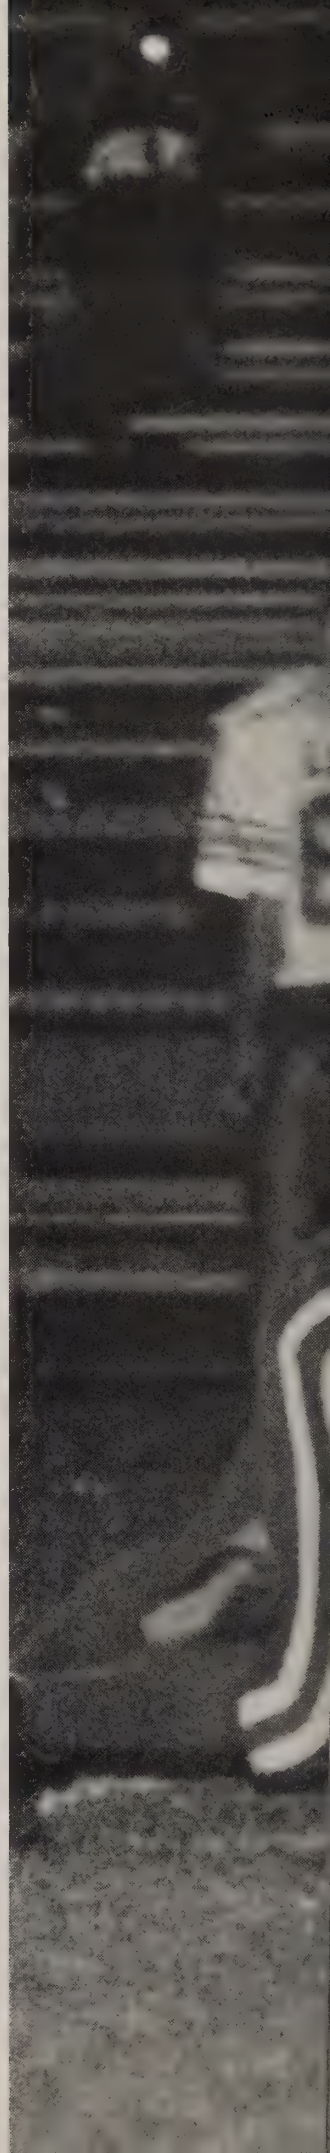

Sports is our next category. The time is 1953. Eisenhower was president, Elvis was King, rock n' roll was the new sound, Ozzy and Harriet were everyone's favorite couple and the beehive hairdo was in. Fairfax ended the season six and two in varsity football and field hockey.

Mr. James Coyle, the Director of Athletics in 1953 said that, "Athletics at Fairfax High School is considered as much a part of the educational program of the school as any other opportunity offered to the students."

One could say that not much has changed in forty-one years. Sports play a large role in increasing school spirit. If students are not directly involved in the athletic program, then they typically encourage it in one way or another.

Senior Todd Davis, who played three varsity sports, replied, "Sports are a vital part of Fairfax. They bring the classes together and encourage school spirit and pride."

We Made It To THE TOP!

"I've been cheerleading since freshman year, and found it has given me an opportunity to really get to know and become good friends with the other cheerleaders. It has been a ton of fun."

-Cari Henson

"Being a cheerleader is not all show." It takes hard work, a lot of dedication, and practice, since practice makes perfect. Of course, we also have fun."

-Sandi Blood

"Cheerleading has come a long way since my sophomore year. We have accomplished a lot over these years but I think we owe it to our coach Virginia Dyke, who makes us practice two hours a day and three days a week."

-Christine Haake

"The most important thing during cheerleading is hard work and cooperation. The most exciting thing was when the football team beat the Madison Warhawks 58 to 6."

-Lynn Brown

"I believe we've come a really long way since the summer. We all learned how to

What is your opinion about cheerleading as a sport?

"Cheerleading is the best sport ever!"

-Amy Hightower

"It's lots of fun, but also hard work. Cheerleading IS a sport."

-Alisa Scibilia

"Cheerleading is fun, but it's not a sport."

-Vanessa Clemens

How do you feel about your squad?

"Each squad is like a family. In order to get things done you have to work together. A lot of tension is created and fights are started, but in the end we are all friends again. I love you all!"

-Sarah Christensen

"If you think the Redskins are good, come watch the J.V. cheerleaders!"

-Katie Gilbert and Jessica Salvetti

PUTTING THE ROCK INTHE HOLE

What Did You Like Best About This Season?

"Meeting at Hayes' house before games, eating nachos, and playing Super Nintendo."

-Mike Casey

"The team came together really well when it counted."

-Steve Yeager

"The best thing that I liked about the season is coming to practice with my teammates and messing around with the coaches."

-Craig Jones

"It was great to have Coach Buchanan as a coach because of his professional baseball skills."

-Mike Kotwicki

"I was just glad to have a chance to compete against the other teams. I had a lot of fun!"

-Linny Bradley

"What I liked best about this season were the people on the team and the coaches."

-Christian Salazar

"We had a great year. This was my second year coaching this group of young men and I saw them come together as a five man unit and friendships take hold. What I am most proud of in this team is the way they bounced back after a loss. The Madison game was outstanding. Everyone contributed to a team effort that day. I feel that everyone played up to their ability and learned the team concept. Most importantly, everyone had fun, especially the coaches."

-Coach Ondrof

Shooting the Hoops

What do you think made the team so successful?

"Our team had a lot of spirit and that's all that counts."

-Margaret Wood

"The team worked hard this year together and that helped a lot."

-Kathleen Rose

"This season we had a great team, even though we didn't go to George Mason. We still had a great season. We had great spirit and I hope next year will be just as good."

-Megan Dempsey

How do you feel about this year's season?

"I'm really proud of what our team achieved this year."

-Courtney Ficken

"We had a good season and I really enjoyed it."

-Kim Yeager

"I love basketball!"

-Tommika Woods

"I felt that during this year's season we had an equal year as last and we all learned a little more skills and I'm looking forward to next year."

-Rika Drea

"I like the friendship that our team has, it really helps on the court."

-Tara Glaze

FLYIN' by 'EM

"Indoor track was hard and fun it had it's up's and downs. The workouts were worth it. Coach Carr made it fun, he really knew how to teach the right running formation and they are really helpful in the long run."

-Paul Pasten

"The first couple weeks in track were hard. Coach Carr worked us hard, but it was worth it. He made us run up and down the hill, if you were the first 3 sprinters, and first 3 long distance runners then you get to ride back in Coach Carr's truck."

-Khanh Huyuh

"Track takes a lot of determination because it's one of those sports where the practice is fun. I like the competition in all the meets. The practices are hard until you get back in shape, then once you do you try to push it until you got no more."

-Heather Eastman

"I enjoyed track this year because, I had lots of fun in the track meets, running against my friends in practice and talking to Mr. Bourn when I was too tired to take another step. Now that I'm graduating I'm going to miss track next year when I'm off at college."

-Laurie Rowan

"Indoor Track is a challenge, especially if you're out of shape when it begins. It's not so much the running that's a challenge its the technique involved in learning an event that really challenges you. I thoroughly enjoyed running Indoor Track because Coach Carr and Hassan make it worth your while. When you're so dead tired you can hardly move you jump in the back of his truck, instead of running back to school."

MAKING WAVES

Why did you try out for this sport?

"To make some new friends, to learn more about swimming, and get my times down."

-Peter Yim

"I like to swim and I wanted to stay in shape for summer league."

-Kristina Kurd

"I didn't have to try out but I love the sport of diving."

-Mike Perkins

How do you get pepped up for a meet? What are some rituals that you practice before each meet?

▶ Being a captain, Larry Reinhart always shows support by cheering on his fellow swimmers. Photos by Lifetouch Studio.

"Go to spaghetti dinner. Put on my suit, and shave my legs."

-Betsy Baldwin

"Go to team dinners, say chants, and sing a song that I like that will help me through the events."

-Larry Reinhart

What do you like best about this sport/team? What do you like least?

"The thing I liked the most is when the boys shaved their heads, it showed real team spirit. The thing I disliked the most was trying to get the Falls Church meet coordinated. It got snowed out twice."

-Cari Henson

"I like the spaghetti dinners. I don't like the meets on Friday nights."

-Christina Newell

You are given the chance to run practice for a day. How would you do it?

"I would probably play some sort of water game like Sharks and Minnows."

-Katie Johnson

"I would do relay starts, some kick and pulls, and then play water polo or some other game."

STAYING on TOP

What do you like best about wrestling?

"That you can't point fingers at people if you loose. It's all you and nobody else."

-Maurice Castro

Why did you try out?

"Because it is harder than any other sport. It takes a certain type of person to wrestle; you have to have strength, speed, skill, and above all heart."

-Jay Planakis

"Because Sutt is the coach, and I also like physical sports."

-Lee Engle

What is a typical practice like?

"Very exhausting."

-Daniel Rey

PEPPING UP

The Crowd

How do you feel about this year's season?

"Basketball season was really fun this year. I had a lot of fun cheering at Fairfax especially when I got to be thrown up in the air."

-Kristy Lee

"We came to the squad at the beginning of the year with each of our own expectations and by the end of the Basketball season we emerged as a great team and great friends."

-Kristi Pienkos

"Basketball season was fun, both boys and girls had a great season and they were lots of fun to cheer for."

-Lynn Brown

What do you feel was the biggest accomplishment for the squad?

"Capturing the district championship was the greatest accomplishment our squad made this year."

-Sharon Griffin

What have you gotten out of the experience as a Varsity cheerleader?

"Working with the Varsity Cheerleaders gave me a good experience to open up."

-Liv LiaBraaten

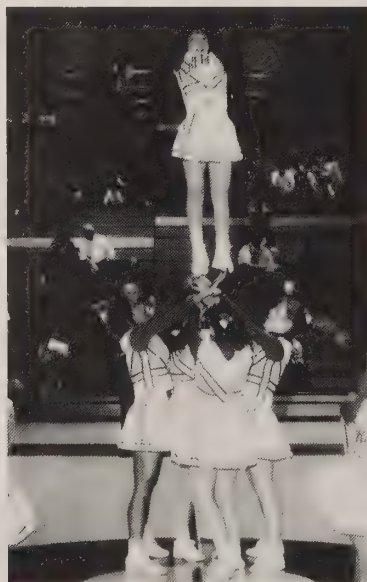

"I have always loved cheering for the majority of my years at Fairfax and this year has been one I won't forget."

-Emily King

"It was a great privilege to be pulled up to Varsity as a sophomore."

-Amanda Sutherland

For our next category, our contestants will be using a visual representation. The category is Performing Arts. The time is 1985. Ronald Reagan was president, Micheal Jackson break-danced his way to number one, the Iran Contra Scandal hit the airways, and AIDS was classified as an epidemic. That year the F/X players performed "Bus Stop".

This category has not changed much within the past nine years. The 1994 thespian sponsor, Bob Smith said, "The strong Performing Arts program here at Fairfax, provides many opportunities for the diverse student population and gives the student body as a whole a real chance to see excellence in all aspects of the arts, here in their own backyard."

So to explore this category we must look at the performances given this year.

And Action.....

Performing

In many sports you either run or shoot or pass. But in Colorguard and Winterguard you can throw around swords and flags when people are just feet away from you. Jolyn Wurm enjoys using a variety of tools, "because when somebody tries to start something with me, I can just hit them with my flag."

For many years both Colorguard and Winterguard have been dominated by females, but this year Junior Lee Engle and Wil Daines have signed up and performed in this year. Lee Engle, who is also the drum major for the marching band, enjoys it, because it, "teaches many lessons besides music and performance,... lessons that can be taken and applied all over the community."

But what would Colorguard be without music? The marching band provides the music, while they perform. Without the music, according to Geoff Goode, "their performances would lack the most important and crucial element."

Many memories of practice, and competition, fill the minds of the performers when they reminisce. Many of them, like have been in these clubs their entire high school career and encourage others to try out. It may take a lot of sweat and tears, but as Megan Jones puts it, "it was worth all the hard work."

At the start of the football game the band prepares for the many songs that add spirit for the fans and the team.

bands try to represent the school as a whole and try to participate in school-wide activities such as football games, pep rallies, assemblies, and small group performances.

The Concert and Symphonic bands meet once a day in a class setting and prepare for four major performances throughout the year. Students are encouraged to participate actively and to enjoy the preparation for these major performances. In addition, the Symphonic Band was selected to attend and perform at the prestigious National Concert Band Festival, in Chicago, Illinois.

Jazz Band meets at night and is offered as a credit class which requires an audition. The group performs at many festivities and competitions.

From nursing homes to Canada, the Orchestra is playing all around. Our Orchestra loves playing for others; they feel it relaxes themselves as well as the audience. Orchestra has played an important role in the lives of people like Nadine Lee.

Nadie said, "Because activities can be hard work, I decided to take my sophomore year off. I missed orchestra and my violin so much I had to come back this year."

Orchestra has enhanced the lives of many students with the fun experiences, the travel and the competition.

"Near the beginning of the year we had a orchestra social, a getting-to-know-you kind of thing at some rec center off in Boon-Hickville. I can't forget just totally running wild with Kevin Wiggins and Paul Acre dancing and jumping around to make the CD player skip," explains Linda Hirw.

Everyone expresses themselves differently, some act, some write, and some sing. The chorus continues to build on the success of each year. Chorus allows every student who loves to sing, express themselves in a completely new way. Through music of different languages and cultures, the chorus also grows by learning to appreciate pieces of music from all over the world. With remarkable variety and style the chorus puts on a splendid show.

Freshmen Clara Salmon said, "Chorus is different from any other activity because you can hear other people sing and be put in with other choirs and try different music."

Not only is chorus different from any other activity, it allows the participants to get the most out of their high school experience.

"Chorus helps people find out their true talents and if you work hard and you're dedicated you can make a career out of it," exclaimed Crystal Carpenter.

▶ Referring to her music piece, Roxanne Gates sings the melody line with the Select Women's Ensemble.

"Chorus and singing is a form of art and that is certainly something we all should have the opportunity to enjoy. Chorus can help to give this opportunity to the school and the community," said junior Daniel Svensson.

Chorus, a form of art? Certainly. Chorus is a form of expression that many people enjoy to hear as well as participate in it.

Senior Dave Burns said, "Chorus enriches our lives, as do all the arts." Burns further commented by saying, "Through learning how to enunciate while singing, I have improved my enunciation on stage, as an actor, my first love."

Chorus does more for the participants than just merely teaching them how to sing. It gives the participants the opportunity to meet new people, have new experiences and expand their horizons.

"Chorus has allowed me to interact with people who share my love for music," said senior William McBurrough.

▶ Singing at the Winter Concert, Evan Uhl joins in with a combination of all the choruses. Evan is a member of Men's Chorus.

How has chorus enhanced your life?

"It's broadened my knowledge of, and taste, in music of various periods and styles."

-David Burns

"I've spent a lot of time in and out of school for chorus. Many people in chorus have become my friends and it's always a pleasure to be in their company. I have not only learned a lot about singing but also learned to be part of a group; a link in the chain."

Playing

As audience members, most people do not realize the hard work and effort that goes into each performance. It does not begin with reciting lines and a few hand gestures. Nor does the costumes and stage magically appear.

A successful performance results from many hours of practice and all-day and all-night tech days. These efforts were evident in such productions as "She Stoops to Conquer."

Bob Smith, the sponsor of FX Players, presented this comedy in three-fourths. The audience was allowed an up close look at the platform with its trap door. This raked stage setting was like those of the time of the play. A background of flats had been painted with angels by Gillian Waldren to create the essence of the early 1800's.

Training for performances begins in the classroom and at the weekend conference. About fifty students had the opportunity to enhance their theatrical skills during a 3 day convention in December in Petersburg, VA. Workshops of all sorts were offered: stage design, clowning, make up, costumes, acting, and even stage combat, which Mr. Smith taught.

▶ A nervous maid (Helenka Spatz) stands at attention while receiving a lecture on the proper ways to serve a party.

What is your favorite theater memory?

"We were staying at this hotel for our theater conference in Petersburg. On our last morning there, the water pipes busted. We had to melt ice with a blow dryer in order to brush our teeth. I felt bad for the people who were in the middle of taking a shower."

the Stage

◀ In the fall production, "She Stoops to Conquer", Tony (Sean Quinn) sings a song as his fellow patrons cheer him on.

▼ Mistaking her husband for a criminal, Mrs. Hardcastle begs him to spare Tony's life. All photos by Ben Levy.

◀ A confused Marlo (Andy DeFesta) falls in love with the "maid". Confessing his forbidden emotions, he doesn't realize that she is really Miss Hardcastle (Catlin Stephens).

▲ Attempting to attract Mr. Hastings's (Mike Mahaffey) attention, Constance (Jean Phillipson) "casually" bends over, providing a view.

Our next category is organizations. The time is 1945. Truman was president, big bands were in, World War II had just ended with the dropping of the atomic bomb and Frank Sinatra made his way into the hearts of every girl with his smooth voice. Fairfax, only 10 years old at the time, had plenty to offer its students with over twenty three organizations. Some of those groups included, Future Farmers of America, Chef Club, Monitors-Safety Patrol, Needlecraft Club, and Nursing Club.

"It's so weird how many different clubs they had back then. None of them would be relevant today," said Jenn Schneider. Today, Fairfax's extracurricular program is tremendous with over sixty clubs available for students.

Freshmen Katie Gallemore said, "When I first came to Fairfax I was overwhelmed by the number of organizations offered. It was really hard to choose which ones I wanted to participate in."

Our last category is the Community. The time is 1967. American Bandstand rocked T.V. land, the Beatles were the hottest thing around, the Vietnam conflict escalated and LBJ was President. At that time, Fairfax was still a small community, with most of the land being used as farm land.

When remembering what the community was like in 1967, Mrs. Contristan said, "When I graduated from Fairfax in 1967, the community was much closer. The high school was the social focus of the community. You had to go to the football/basketball games at least an hour early to even get a seat."

Within the past 27 years Fairfax has expanded considerably. It is a rare treat to find open farmland between the highways, malls, and housing communities.

"In the 6 years that I've lived here, I can't believe how much everything has grown. There is so much construction going on, it's unbelievable," said Senior Havalynn Riddle.

Death Be Not Proud

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee

Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so;

For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow

Die not, poor death, nor yet canst thou kill me.

From rest and sleep, which but thy pictures be,

Much pleasure; them from thee much more must flow,

And soonest our best men with thee
do go,

Rest of their bones, and soul's delivery.

Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings,
and desperate me,

And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;

And poppy or charms can make us
sleep as well

And better than thy stroke; why swell'st thou then?

One short sleep past, we wake eternally,

And death shall be no more: Death,
thou shalt die.

The 1994-1995 Sampler, Vol. 60 On The Flip Side.

Student Life was completed on Auto Copy. The rest of the book was completed on desktop with Pagemaker 4.2.

All copy was typed in 10 point Helvetica. All captions were 8 point. The Opening, Closing and all divider spreads were typed in 18 point Helvetica. The headlines were done in AG Old Face Outline. The Student Life, Performing Arts and Sports headlines were done on Typestyler 2.0. The Senior section contained name ID's in 12 point Bellevue. Headlines in the people section varied throughout in font and style. Academics section had body copy in Bold Helvetica and 15 point leading. Headlines were in Palatino. The cover was designed by Bob Eyster a Studio 3 type with mission grain. Applied colors of black and teal. The Endsheets were pumice. The book is 9x12 made up of 252 pages.

The Publishing Company was:
Jostens
P.O. Box 5867
Winston-Salem, NC 27113-5867

The professional photography services were provided by:
LifeTouch Studios
14740-P Flint Lee Rd.
Chantilly, VA

The 1995 Sampler Staff would like to thank faculty, administration, afterschool help and Julie Sterling. We would also like to thank Elizabeth Glowicz of the Department of Management Information Services.

A special thanks to our Jostens representative, Pete and Lori Griffin, the photography representatives, Mary Jo LoBianco and Mark Milligan, and especially the advisor Gwen Hawley who helped the yearbook through extra hours of time and dedication.

Steve-Funkiest Gringo

Miss Hawley-coolest sponsor the Sampler could ever have 4 years ago we never imagined that a closet would become our new home and yearbook would become a 24/7 job. We never thought we could meet those deadlines and we were almost right! But after all of the work, we completed this beautiful thing. And we have determined that the two of us can accomplish anything, of course a box of chocolate donuts makes it all so much easier. All we can say is 'thank goodness it's over', life can now continue for us. And for next year's staff-GOOD LUCK!(ha ha). Thanks for putting up with us guys, you were always good entertainment. Thanks Miss Hawley, who else could have lasted so late? At least we remained sane. Yeah right!

Well, that wraps up another edition of "It's Fare Facts". We hope you enjoyed the program. To all of those not returning next year we wish you the best of luck in all of your endeavors. And for the Senior class of 1995, the grand prize-GRADUATION!

"My birthday is the same day as graduation. In my opinion that is the best birthday present I could ever ask for." said Senior Carrie Kappler.

For those of you returning to play again next year, we hope you will enjoy your summer and we'll see you again soon.

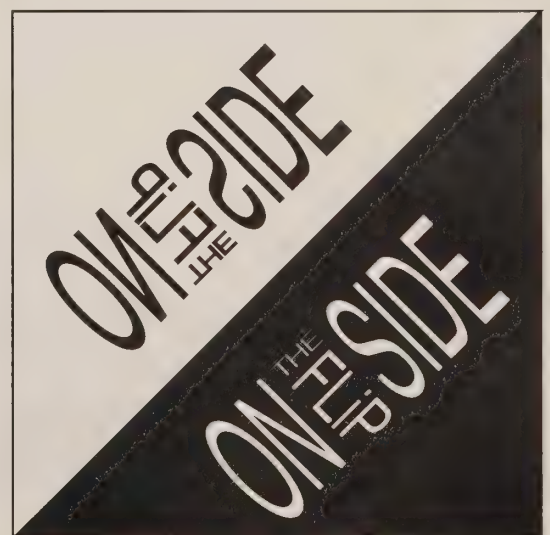

Ryan Donoghue phrased it best when he said, "Peace to the mighty class of '95! We outta here!"

PREPARE TO BE THE LEADERS
AND OTHERS
FOLLOWERS
ALL THIS AND MORE
ALL THE SOUNDS
AND SMELLS
NOW DON'T LOOK BACK
JUST LOOK AHEAD
AND
